Hello Dan,

I'm not sure I understand. You're saying that even though you've told me on any number of occasions that CD13 does not possess the means to produce emails electronically now that there's a dire state of emergency you've somehow gained the ability to produce them this way? And if I agree to use NR then you'll upload them in whatever format they're in now but if I choose not to use NR then you'll print them on paper and scan them to PDF?

If that's indeed what you're saying then what I would prefer you to do is to email me the documents in whatever format it is that you are offering to put them on NR. There's no reason whatsoever, whether in the law or in the world of common sense, for you to insist that different means of transmission require different file formats (where clearly the OCR PDFs produced by City Gmail, which you've told me CD13 is unable to produce) are different from the embedded image PDFs produced by your scanner, at least with the settings you typically use.
